

Category Overview

The category overview shows all recipe categories, as well as the special folder with the recipe templates. Choose a category in order to get to a list of all corresponding recipes.

The navigation pane offers the following functions:

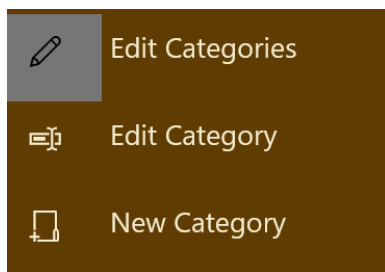

Recipe search

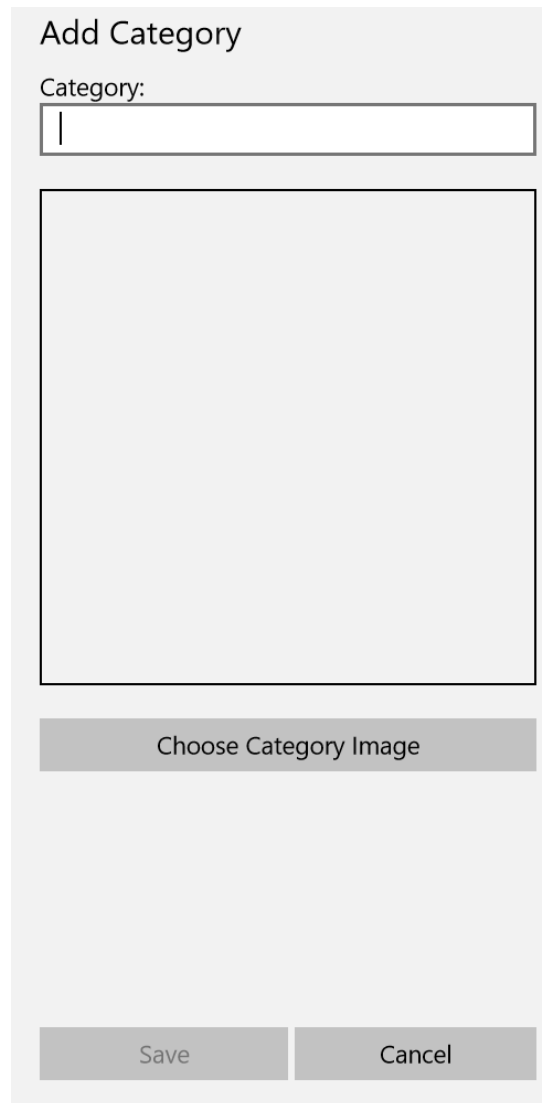

From the category overview you can search across all recipes for keywords. Just enter a search term for it, and press the Enter key. This will bring you to a list of all recipes that contain the search term.

Add a new category

To add a new category, first select the function Edit Categories. This switches the category overview into edit mode and two additional functions appear:

Now select the function New Category. This opens a dialog where you can enter the name of the new category, and that allows you to choose a category image.

A dialog box titled "Add Category" with a light gray background. It contains a text input field labeled "Category:" with a vertical cursor. Below the input field is a large, empty rectangular box for an image. Underneath the image box is a gray button labeled "Choose Category Image". At the bottom of the dialog are two gray buttons: "Save" on the left and "Cancel" on the right.

Add Category

Category:

Choose Category Image

Save Cancel

To return to the display mode, choose the function Edit Categories once more. After that you can navigate to the recipe lists.

Modify a category

To rename a category, or to change a category image first switch into edit mode. Then, select the category you want to modify. By executing the function Edit Category you get to the edit dialog.

Settings

By choosing the function Settings you can make the following changes.

- Change the startup folder. If you have moved the recipe collection to a different location, you can specify the new location with this function.
- Log application events. This function is used for analysis and should normally be turned off.